

Taid Ray and Curtis Xmas 1996.

Ray had decided to make toy boxes for our little grandchildren for Xmas 1996. His workshop was in the old " Smithy " part of the cottage and it took him weeks to make them, finishing just in time for Xmas.

There was paint everywhere as he primed, under coated and had eight different tins of gloss paint. He made them very strong with re-enforcement on the corners and he cut the letters with a fret saw by hand. Ray stored them in his dark room to wait for Xmas day.

They had so many presents and soon filled the boxes.

Connor in the toy box that Taid Ray made for him Xmas 1996.