

Patrick and his little red car

Patrick's baby walker

Sharon and Patrick with their new bikes on Xmas morning

Nurse Sharon

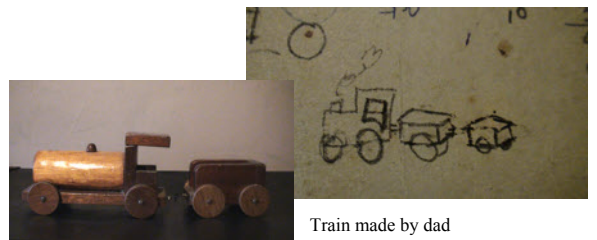

Poncho made by mum

These are some of the presents Sharon and Patrick had while we were at Brize Norton. Patrick was walking at 10 months old and we bought him a baby walker, also a little red car, he loved this car so much that he used it until he couldn't fit into it any more.

They both had new bikes, it was such a pleasure to see their faces on Xmas morning and they couldn't wait to go and try them out on camp. Sharon said she always wanted to be a nurse when she grew up and Santa brought her a nurses uniform, the only problem was, I had to make aprons and hats from old white sheets for her friends who came to play.

I liked to crochet while I was at Brize and I made Sharon a red / white poncho. Ray was into carpentry and he made Patrick a little wooden train in his workshop which was the shed by the side of the house.

Train made by dad

Ray's workshop