

LIFE IN THE FREEZER

by BEN OSBORNE

An audio-visual slide presentation about Antarctica and the making of the BBC TV series –

TUESDAY 16TH OCTOBER
Main Arts Lecture Theatre
BANGOR UNIVERSITY
Starting at 7.30 p.m.
£5.00 (Students £3.00)

This illustrated talk describes the coldest, most remote continent on the earth and tells the story behind the filming of the award-winning BBC-TV series 'Life in the Freezer' as presented by Sir David Attenborough.

Ben Osborne is a world-renowned photographer having visited Antarctica on 5 occasions. He has worked as a freelance photographer for National Geographic Magazine and once spent 8 months sailing Antarctic waters on a 50ft yacht. Behind the scenes images include camera crews at work with Sir David Attenborough, illustrating the advanced filming techniques that made the series so dramatic.
