Verity (deVerite) is a family from Picardy and Flanders, Lords of Bailleul and Quatreveaux. In 1239 Roger deVerite is recorded as the son of a knight, 1376 Jean de Verite as equerry to King Charles V, 1388 Raoul de Verite, as a reward for services to the Order of St John of Jerusalem especially at Epire, was awarded an estate near Bruges. Members of the deVerite family were in the Norman service of the Henry V. In 1422 Jean de Verite knight was given, at Rouen, the manors confiscated from Richard and William Reviere. There are documents showing the de Verite service to Charles VIII and Louis XII. In 1548 François deVerite, Lord of Bailleul, was invested as a nobleman in the household of the Duke of Guise and took part in a mission of Henry II to England; in 1578 his son Francois acted on behalf of Philippe II in Artois. Documents of 1641 record Jean deVerites' service to Louis XIII, his daughter Marie married Baron Stanislaus Walerand de Hauteclouque, (the deHauteclouque family hold many of the deVerite family records).

Family tradition in England is of Jahan deVerite being taken prisoner at the 1342 naval Battle of l'Ecluse and settling in England (note: Richard de Verite subsidy of Northmerdon 1275 and 1296 Rolls of Worcester). Records show that by the late 1500's a branch of the family was established at Sowerby in Yorkshire. The Verity family were for several generations at Rooley Hall, Bowling, Yorkshire and moved to Glamorganshire in the 1780's and by the late 1790's they were settled at Ash Hall, Welsh St Donat's, Glamorganshire, (previously the property of Sir Thomas and his son Richard Aubrey).

Richard was offered a baronetcy, which he later regretted declining as in 1831 he wished to marry but it was a condition that he should first be a baronet, Lady Granville petitioned Lord Grey, (see: Leverson Gower, Letters of Harriet Countess Granville and the Three Howard Sisters', Letters ed. Lady Leaconfield). Close friend of 6th Duke and Duchess of Manchester, this possibly accounts for his acquisition in 1825 of the Dillingham Estate at Dean near Kimbolton (see: Dean Estate and Verity-Dalton Records, Bedfordshire Archives) in 1842 he added a gallery to what is now Dean House to hold his collection of old master paintings including pictures by Van Dyke, the Vallombrosa Raphael, Madonna del Cardellino (given by the Verity family in the 1995 to Downside Abbey) and a St Catherine after Bronzino. In London lived 25 Bolton Street Piccadilly, also maintained a home at Vernlam Place,

- Switzerland 27 Feb 1907. The Villa Oppenheim on Viale Machiavelli (designed by Pietro Comarni Rossi and Giuseppe Poggi, with interiors by Edoardo Gioga - engineer of the Suez Canal - and described as 'the most beautiful villa on the most beautiful street in the world') was built for Eugenia, as a setting for the greatest social gatherings for the new political order during Florence's period as the capital of Italy (1865-1870), Napoleon III, Empress Eugenie and Prince Napoleon were frequent guests. Baron and Baroness Oppenheim were in Egypt for the 1869 inauguration by the Empress of the Suez Canal (in which Hermann Oppenheim had been central in the financing together with the Banco Fenzi), Eugenia Fenzi was the last person to cross by land prior to the joining of the channels and she was presented with a necklace of large pearls, on which she would live in later years. Suspecting his wife's infidelity Oppenheim attempted to blow up the Villa Oppenheim. The Empress was to live there from 1874 (now Villa Cora); Eugenia left Italy for the Verity family in Glamorganshire where in 1882 having been petitioned in London for divorce, m 2. 29 Nov 1883 Giulio, Count Prina Ricotti; (Ouida's novel 'In the Winter City' 1876 is based on Eugenia following her separation from Oppenheim and prior to her marriage to Prina Riccotti), d 1910, issue:
